

INTRODUCTION

Let's face it. Studying the scriptures every day is tough. I've often been held back because my daily study is not meaningful and does not lead to action. This book is not an authoritative source of profound doctrine; moreover, it is designed to help you become someone who studies the scriptures regularly, loves them, and has meaningful, personalized scripture study.

Each day contains just 1-3 verses to study and questions, prompts, fun facts, or ideas to keep studying or pondering throughout the day.

I've included a diverse range of prompts, and I recognize everyone is different. Of course, if your study takes you in a different direction from the one printed here, please study to meet your needs. You'll find over time that this method of studying will help you become a frequent studier, and that you will find you enjoy it more.

So, without further ado, feel free to begin today! Ideally, you will end in exactly one leap year. When you do, think about the progress you've made and the person that frequent scripture study has helped you to become.

This book is not produced by, published by or otherwise directly affiliated with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.
